June 16, 2003

"No more sorrows will be mine, no more burdens will I bear. No more heartaches will I endure weighted down with endless care-While here on earth I did my best. A friend to all I tried to be. This day no regrets have I while you are here to look at me. No more will I fret and worry about what a day might bring. I go now to a great city where God's Holy Angels sing!"

Obituary

Georgia Geraldine Moody Campbell, affectionately known as "Gerry" was born February 9, 1921 in Waycross, Georgia. She was the youngest of five children born to the late Mary Lou and Oscar "Pop" Moody. She had two sisters and one brother who preceded her in death. Her remaining sister is Helen Moody Mayes of Albany, Georgia. Gerry and her family were faithful members of Gaines Chapel Methodist Church in Waycross, Georgia until she met and married the late R.W. Campbell of Statesboro. She then became a member of First African Baptist Church in Statesboro. After the Church's congregation split, Gerry and a small number of others then became members of what is now called The Original First African Baptist Church on Institute Street in Statesboro. She was a faithful member of her Church who served her Church Family and friends well until health began failing her. She was also a member of Club Rhonu.

Gerry graduated from Center High School in Waycross, Georgia and later, from what is now known as Savannah State University. She and R.W. took the challenge Bulloch County had given them, by not allowing Black teachers to earn advanced degrees near their homes, and traveled to Philadelphia, Pennsylvania every summer for several years for study towards a Post-secondary degree. Gerry and R.W. both subsequently earned a Master's Degree from Temple University.

Gerry, many have said through the years, taught almost every person who attended any of the Bulloch County Schools at one time or another, either them, their sons, daughters or other family members. She was loved and admired by all whose lives she touched. She was even named Georgia's Teacher of The Year by the Georgia Teachers Education Association.

Perhaps, her most important role was as Mother, Grandmother, and Great-Grandmother to sons; R. Wilbur Campbell, (Dorothy) Jr. (Savannah) and Ronald E. (Phyllis) Campbell (Statesboro). Grandchildren; Renee Campbell Clark, Michael W. Campbell, Deidra Reid, Tanisha "TK" Campbell and Ronald (Lisa) "Rico" Campbell. She has several adoring great-grandchildren who, along with a loving sister-in-law, Gladys Glover (Delaware), many nieces, nephews and a host of friends will miss her "loving nature."

The lasting impact she has made can be seen most evidently in the eyes and love expresses by even the smallest of her great-grandchildren during her recent illness. They expressed love for her that she understood, and which was a reflection of the impact of her life on theirs.

Gerry's family and friends stood by her during her long-suffering, and we all say aloud: "Mama, Nana, Georgia Geraldine, Gerry ... we ain't noways tired yet ... the Battle was not our....!"

"We Love You Dearly."
